

Short CV of Aaron Titus

Aaron Titus is a Teaching Professor in the Department of Physics at North Carolina State University where he co-coordinates the two-semester sequence of introductory calculus-based physics for more than 3,000 students each year.

In 1997, Aaron Titus and Larry Martin created WebAssign. Titus was a member of the Open Source Physics (OSP) team, led by Wolfgang Christian, that received the American Physical Society's 2020 Excellence in Physics Education award.

Titus is a co-author of the fifth edition of Matter and Interactions with Ruth Chabay, Bruce Sherwood, and Steve Spicklemire.